Awards: Family. Network. The Best. Ever. For. Windows. iPhone. HANCHETT-TRAK TAKING THE CONTROL LEAD FROM FRAM The Hanchett-Trak is a modular mast track system for the framer. This system can accommodate the small, medium and large frame sizes. Framing can be done with either the framer's own signal or the Hanchett-Trak's added signals. If the framer has a signal that is incompatible with the system, they can use a Hanchett-Trak-V for the internal signals.

Framing can be done with the Hanchett-Trak's own signal. The Hanchett-Trak can also be used with the existing interelectrode signal. Both signals can be used with the same nominal height for any mast (7.5". 10.5". 17". or 18" .). The Hanchett-Trak can be used with both DC and AC signals. The Hanchett-Trak's modular layout, allows the user to configure the system to suit their work or their preferences. It allows for the user to create any layout they like by simply dragging and connecting the components. This will give the user the freedom to quickly build any setup they need. * Cut in Half!!! A dual-socket PC case capable of running two CPUs in its internal space. The top and bottom halves have a separate CPU socket and motherboard tray, not only saving on part cost but also allowing for much more head room, thus making upgrading or replacing older CPUs a breeze. The case is designed with the concept of driving over two CPU so the idea is very similar to AMD's two-socket motherboards. * Cut in Half!!! A dual-socket PC case capable of running two CPUs in its internal space. The top
